Hallowe'en pranks few

Hallowe'en passed with us usual pranks. Saturday night saw the youngsters out in mass, disguised as goblins, witches and other weird creatures.

Goblins were scattered in large amounts and the tricksters had their soap bars with them, for liberal use, particularly in the downtown area.

Although no serious damage was reported, a considerable amount of egg throwing took place in downtown Stirling. Saturday night, prompting local motorists and pedestrians to wonder who supplied all the ammunition. It is to be hoped this was no commercial venture.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Wanamaker returned home after visiting the Western Provinces. Their trip took them to Vancouver, New Westminster, Seattle, Middle Lake, Sask., Kindersley and Olds, Alta., where they visited their granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Warren were weekend guests of their daughter, Mrs. Eric McInroy and Mr. McInroy, Toronto, last week. On Sunday they attended the christening of their "grandson," Brian Jeffrey, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pyear of Guelph. Fifteen babies were christened at this service in Dublin Street United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug McIntosh, Burlington; Mr. and Mrs. Don McIntosh, Stirling; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones and Sharon of Bellwood were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh of Stirling.

Mrs. Annie Seales of Hastings Manor is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Seales, Miss Mildred White and Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone Park and other friends.

Couple celebrate 25th anniversary

Spring Brook Orange Hall was beautifully decorated in autumn colors and colorful balloons and streamers to mark the happy anniversary of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ketchen, R.R. 3, Stirling on Saturday evening, Oct. 23. A three tier anniversary cake and red roses centred the tables with silver candles and bells on either side.

Mrs. Wes Peters, Mrs. Cecil Hood and Miss Gwennie Ray were in charge of the gift table.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen were married at the Anglican Church Rectory in Brighton by the late Rev. R.E. Lemon, Oct. 23, 1946. The bride was the former Elsie G. Fleming of Havelock, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Fleming and the groom was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Ketchen of Belmont Township.

Both Earl and Elsie saw active service in World War two. Earl with the 48th Highlanders in Italy, France and Holland returning with the Hasty Peas while Elsie was an M. T. Driver in the C.W.A.C.

Murphy Bateman acted as chairman and Earl and Elsie were called to the platform. Both expressed appreciations thanks for the lovely gifts and asked everyone to attend Open House at their home on Sunday afternoon.

A buffet luncheon followed and a social hour enjoyed with everyone wishing Earl and Elsie continued health and happiness.

During the evening Miss Edna Tanner and Mrs. Earl Dafon were greeted by the birthday song and received gifts, also Mrs. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner were the nearest anniversary couple and received gifts.

Many lovely gifts and congratulatory messages were received and their gifts to each other were placed on the guest book.

Guests were from Oakville, Hastings, Coryville, Ingersoll, Toronto, Campbellford, Stirling, Cobourg, Havelock and Harold and cutting their anniversary cake with a silver sword, bid their friends welcome and to enjoy an evening of dancing.

On Sunday open house was held at the Ketchen home when friends and neighbours called. The gifts were attractively displayed. Kathy Ketchen served the guests and Mrs. Gerd Bura looked after refreshments.

And then there was the man who was so scared by reading endless stories linking smoking with cancer that he finally decided to quit reading the newspaper.

Our next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 4th and will be progressive euchre again. There will be good prizes and a lot of hard luck for most of us.

FOUR BAILEY BROTHERS -- MASONS ALL

The official visit of William K. Bailey (second from right), Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Ontario to Stirling last Thursday was an occasion for a reunion of four Bailey brothers, all of whom hold high offices in the order. From left, they are Ross, Belleville, district secretary of Prince Edward District; Clarence, Smiths Falls, district deputy grand master of St. Lawrence District; Will, Belleville, district secretary

Stirling Masons celebrate as Grand Master comes 'home'

"Needless to say, this is a very proud moment in my life," said William K. Bailey, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, when he stood to address some 200 Stirling and district Masons here Thursday evening.

Mr. Bailey, a native of Peterborough, now living in Toronto, is the first Masonic Grand Master to pay an official visit to Stirling Lodge No. 69. AF and AM, the lodge he joined in his youth in 1925.

"This (reception and dinner) has brought together a great many of my former friends...friends of yesterday," he told the gathering in the IOOF Hall.

The main theme of Mr. Bailey's address centered around the question, "What is there (in the Masonic order) for Me?"

Speaking personally, the Grand Master said the reply included many wonderful evenings of fellowship, and a grand many favors and benefits.

Membership in the order means many privileges, associations and friendships that one otherwise would not have, said Mr. Bailey. Through allegory and symbols, the Lodge has a unique contribution to make to its membership, he said.

Membership also means a good deal of hard work and nights away from home, said the speaker. But the desire to help others and the peculiar companionship which comes from participation make it well worth the effort.

Mr. Bailey's remarks included a short description of some of the historical highlights of the Lodge in Stirling. Noting that Stirling Lodge No. 69 dated back for some 120 years, he commented that No. 69 was one of 65 lodges which chose not to join in when the Grand Lodge of Canada came into being in 1855. The local lodge received its warrant from the Grand Lodge of England.

In 1958, however, Stirling Lodge sought permission to affiliate with the Canadian Lodge.

Mr. Bailey's speech came in reply to a toast to the Grand Master and the Grand Lodge, proposed by George Noble.

Following this, a sister of the Grand Master, Miss Cora Bailey of Peterborough, presented him with a large, framed portrait of himself from the Bailey family.

In turn, Mr. Bailey handed the portrait over to Ralph Clements, worshipful master of Stirling Lodge, who said the portrait would be placed in a prominent place in the local Masonic Temple.

was taken over by Russell Sills, Mr. Clements was the chairman for the evening.

Grace was offered by Rev. Roy A. Taylor.

Mr. Bailey is the son of a Mason and has three brothers holding high offices in the order. They are Clarence of Smiths Falls, who is the district deputy grand master of St. Lawrence District; Ross of Belleville, who is district secretary of Prince Edward District; and Gordon of R.R. 5, Stirling, grand sword bearer.

A Masonic meeting took place at the temple following the reception. During the past several months, the Lodge has carried out extensive renovations in preparation for the Grand Master's visit to his mother Lodge.

That Candidates Night -- So-called

Now that the election is past, may we be permitted to comment on that so-called All Candidates night held in Stirling during the week prior to voting day.

A Meet the Candidates Night was suggested by the News-Argus as a means of putting some spark into a dull campaign locally. Had the meeting been properly organized and advertised, we still think it would have provided a much-needed service to the electorate.

As it turned out, however, the meeting was arranged at the last minute, apparently with no thought being given to the candidates' itineraries which obviously had to be planned well in advance.

The result was that the Progressive Conservative candidate, Clarke Rollins, had already been committed to attend another meeting on the night of the Stirling rally. And he wasn't about to change his plans.

At that point, the organizers would have been wise either to suggest another time or cancel the attempt. At the very least, the meeting should not have been advertised as an All Candidates Night since the planners were fully aware that one of the three candidates would be absent.

By going ahead with the rally, the organizers gave the impression of being more interested in embarrassing Mr. Rollins than in presenting a forum for public discussion.

We hope that the experience gained with this attempt last month will be drawn on when the next federal election campaign takes place. We think the idea of an all-candidates rally is excellent, but one which requires a considerable amount of planning to ensure that each party representative is given a fair chance.

Thoughts on driving along the 401

BY LYNN JONES

Ever wonder about those mysterious cars on the 401 that seem to stop on the highway for no obvious cause, or any attempt to remove them to safety or repair?

Just travel any portion of this four-lane road, and you will doubtless see several cars parked along the road. Why are they there? Did the vehicle give up? Did the gas tank go dry? Did the driver take sick?

These and many other questions come to mind if one lets his imagination wander. Most of these cars do not have flat tires. There seems little chance the drivers would have wandered off into the nearby fields, as they offer no obvious attraction.

What intrigues me most is the cars one sees at night. Are there desperate criminals hunched in the back seat waiting for some unsuspecting Samaritan to offer assistance? Is the car abandoned because the driver was fleeing and thought his vehicle might be "hot"?

We hardly expect anything so dramatic from these situations, but when you read about some of the more bizarre incidents we show based on what are supposedly authentic cases, it makes a fellow wonder. As you speed along at 70 miles an hour (perhaps you go even more) you are usually past these situations too quickly to really react, even if you wanted to investigate. On the other hand, if the car is apparently deserted, there isn't much one could do anyway.

A Weekly Meditation

THREE GREAT DISCOVERIES

BY Rev. John A. May,
St. Paul's United Church, Stirling

Text: Isa. 6: 1-8

This passage is an account of divine-human encounter, described by a perceptive and intuitive mind.

The background of the passage is this: Isaiah was in the temple when he made three great discoveries:

1. First of all he discovered something about the greatness of God, Isa. 6:3. He was almost overwhelmed with the majesty and dominion and power of God.

That is a discovery many need to make. Our idea of God is too small, too puny, too remote.

2. Isaiah's second discovery was something about himself and his nation; they weren't as good as they thought they were. However prosperous times had been, however great their king had been, however religious he himself was, however well they had observed conventional standards of morality, in the actual presence of the purity and splendor of God, when face to face with holiness exalted in righteousness.

Mrs. C. Kennedy and Mrs. H. Parsons of the Ontario Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, conducted the workshop.

On Oct. 27 a Volunteer Services Workshop was held at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a half hour break for lunch. Twenty-eight ladies were present.

Mr. C. Kennedy and Mrs. H. Parsons of the Ontario Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, conducted the workshop.

A film entitled, "The Rights of Age," was shown by Peggy Faulkner, followed by lively discussion on tangible and intangible needs of Senior Citizens. Each case is individual, and many require assistance in making wise decisions regarding housing, medical care, etc. Stress was placed upon "friendly visiting," and the many ways in which the elderly in our community can be encouraged to keep active and alert and remain a part of the world around them.

The afternoon session opened with a film on First Aid. It stressed the need of every individual having basic knowledge of the principles of First Aid. Mouth to mouth resuscitation was explained in detail.

Special disabilities and services a volunteer can give to gift giving was fully discussed.

Emphasis was placed on "Fun and Fitness" when Mrs. Kennedy demonstrated simple exercises using an ordinary hand towel. These were suitable for patients in nursing homes and done to the rhythm of simple tunes.

The afternoon was brought to a close with discussion of the goals of a Friendly Visiting Service, and each person attending obtained a "Friendly Visiting" handbook.

ness, it was clear to Isaiah that he and his people were unequal, Isa. 6:5.

The third thing Isaiah discovered was something about the need of man for what he could do, Isa. 6:8, 9.

God's world needs the faithful service of each of us.

Isaiah made at least three great discoveries: something about the greatness of God; something about himself and his people; something about the need of the world for what he could do.

Bethel UCW

"October is a big month for Thanksgiving" was the theme given at the opening of the UCW meeting in Bethel Hall on Oct. 28. The roll call, a verse including the word "Harvest" was answered by 24 members and visitors, also two children present.

Mrs. E. Broadworth was in charge of the Worship Service, opening with the hymn, We plough the fields and scatter followed by prayer. The scripture, taken from 2ndCorinthians: verse 8, was read by Mrs. Holden. Mrs. E. Sine gave the meditation on the theme: "We should all become Jesus' people. Go ye therefore and teach all people, Take my life and let it be was sung. A reading, Forgetfulness by Mrs. S. Kellar and a prayer by Mrs. O. Jackson closed the worship service. Mrs. H. Elott was pianist.

During the business session birthday money was paid, several visits to the sick were reported, plans for catering were made and money donated instead of catering at Hoards Sale in December. Mrs.

T. Clements, acting secretary read the minutes and correspondence. There is to be a Stewardship workshop on Nov. 12 at Highway St. United Church, Belleville. It was announced that the canvassers had collected $125,000 for CNIB. Mrs. Carlisle gave a report of the Fall Rally held in Tweed.

Beautitudes for a housewife was a reading by Mrs. W. Heath. Mrs. J. Pollock called upon Mrs. C. Clancy to tell of a three week bus trip through Mexico that she took last year. The history of Mexico dates back to the Aztec Indians of many centuries ago. They were accomplished in art and weaving and making pottery and were able to read and write by their 15th century. The Spanish and then the French exploited the country but with very little development until the early 1900's. Now there are modern schools, modern hospitals, modern houses and not far away possibly primitive slums. The rich are really rich and the poor which includes about two thirds of the population, are very poor. There is no class of people in between. They are a proud people of many different races and speaking many different dialects. The Mexican people have no love for the American people but welcome Canadians. There was an interesting display of souvenirs and pictures.

Mrs. J. Carlisle thanked Mrs. Clancy and presented her with a small gift. The collection was received and dedicated and the meeting closed with the hymn The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, is ended, and the Benediction.

Stirling students honored at Centennial graduation

VOL. 90 - NO. 44

By THOM REYNOLDS
Grade 12 and 13 students of Centennial Secondary School celebrated a personal achievement on Saturday night when they received their Secondary School Graduation Diplomas and their Secondary School Honor Graduation Diplomas.

Twenty-one Grade 13 students from Stirling received their Honours diplomas, including Gail Armstrong, Elizabeth Battista, Jane Bush, Richard Camm, Janice Edwards, Linda Faulkner, James Follwell, Gordon Hoard, Gayle Hoover, Kathryn Jackett, Karen Johnson, Lana LaChapelle, Wayne McCurdy, Reelofje Oosting, Patricia Patterson, Linda Potts, Douglas Robison, Susan Rose, Ruth Saries, Gordon Spencer, and Brenda St. Peter.

The graduation diplomas were presented by W.J. Musgrave, principal of the school and by Donald Williams, Chairman of the Hastings County Board of Education. There were 97 Grade 13 diplomas presented.

Gerald E. Boyce, vice-principal of the school and Raymond Rowe, a member of the board, presented 220 Grade 12 students with their Secondary School Graduation Diplomas. Forty-six Stirling students were among the 220 who accepted their diplomas.

The list included Susan Benson, Mike Burley, Ken Couch, Kathryn Dillabough, Janet Duffell, Grant Dunham, Richard Farrell, Elizabeth Hall, Robert Headman, Derek Hawker, Douglas Irish, Joyce Jeffs, Lorraine Jeffs, Beverly Joby, Kathy Ketchen, Brian Kleinsteuber, Ruth Lee, Barry Linn, Ann Maguire, Robert McIntosh, Denise Meeks, Judith Merrill, Kathryn Morton, Douglas Murray, David Parsonson, Bruce Philip, Mary Potter, Duane Pyear, John Rodgers, Marie Runnalls, Donald Sager, Janet Spenner, David Staples, Susan Tucker, Wayne Tucker, Kathryn Valchar, Nelly Vandenkerk, Linda Walker, Philip Wall, Peter West, Robert Whatman, Elaine Whitehead, Catherine Wickens, Bonnie Willhams, Ardith Wilson, and Richard Wright.

Master of ceremonies' duties were shared by Dennis Fralick, prime minister of the student parliament and parliament secretary, Miss Chris Fulton.

The graduation exercises were student-centered with Centennial's prize-winning band massed on stage, and with students in charge of most of the organization. Following the ceremonies, a dinner, prepared by the home economics students, was served in the cafeteria.

Victor Rabel and Miss Gillian Miller shared the valedictorian honors at the graduation. Mr. Rabel told the audience of more than 1,000 that the graduates had become "licensed problem solvers". But Mr. Rabel also told the recipients of honor graduation diplomas: "Rational thinking is just as great an attraction in the circles of life!"

Mr. Rabel said that the class of 1971 at Centennial was unique because the building was still under construction when this year's graduates entered Grade 9.

Miss Miller, who shared the valedictorian honors, urged her fellow graduates to "take this system and use it to your advantage".

Mr. Musgrave, Principal of Centennial, told the students present that self-confidence and pride were two necessary attitudes for their success in life ahead.

"Your ancestors survived by doing the impossible and you too have that potential," he said. "Be an individual, unswayed by the emotions of the masses."

Mr. Williams, board chairman and Mr. Rowe, trustee, represented the Hastings County Board of Education at the Saturday evening graduation. Mr. Williams paid tribute to the principals and teaching staff of the school and noted that the school was one of the best with its modern facilities and dedicated people.

Mr. Williams also said mass communication made students aware of the dangers of the modern world.

"I am glad you are interested in the problems of the world," he said. "But I hope your concern is demonstrated by responsible action."

Centennial had 21 Ontario Scholar graduates this year. Four of these graduates were from the Stirling area. They are Richard Camm, James Follwell, Gayle Hoover and Wayne McCurdy. The scholarships were presented by Murray Irwin, vice-principal of the school.

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club Award, the Hilda Collier Memorial Bursary, was presented to Kathryn Morton by Mrs. C. Lockyer, Richard Camm was presented with the Hastings County Board of Education Award for Academic Achievement in Grade 13 Geography while John Bissell was presented with the same award in grade 9 Science. The Hastings Board of Education awards were presented by Mr. Williams.

Several trustees questioned the fact that use of the schools costs the board more money in caretaking and services, but it was quickly pointed out that the dividends returned in pupil-school and parent-school relations have already more than outweighed any expense involved.

The board agreed to continue to support the program in whatever ways it could. Mr. Smith stated that his office has an idea what type of programs could be carried out, was just at the beginning stage of really being used in the program.

ready to develop into full operation at any time.

The system used is that Mr. Smith speaks to a local group, and from there, surveys are conducted to determine what people want. What functions are most needed and operated. Local people form a governing committee, and his function is advisory to a large degree.

Hallowe'en party

On Oct. 27 the guides held a Hallowe'en party. The group played games, bobbed for apples, told ghost stories and had a lunch.

The next Tuesday, Nov. 2, the guides learned where all the game centres were by playing world dodge ball.

On Remembrance Day the guides have been asked to march in the parade from the community centre to the cenotaph.

On Saturday the guides went on a hike and held scavenger hunts.

Foxboro Co-op to merge with UCO

Members of Foxboro Co-operative voted to merge their co-operative with United Cooperatives of Ontario. The decision was made at a members meeting held at the Gilead Community Hall near Foxboro on Wednesday, October 27. The vote carried by a 90% majority of the members present.

The Board of Directors, led by Henry Vanwinkle, President, unanimously recommended the merger to members. A special members information meeting had been held several weeks ago when the facts and reasons for the merger were first reviewed.

Foxboro Co-operative Directors reported steady sales last year and the co-operative was finding it increasingly difficult, because of its size ($360,001 in assets), to provide credit to larger farm accounts, improve facilities and build new ones, and provide leadership in farm input cost control. These were key reasons behind the decision to merge with United Cooperatives, UCO is a province-wide co-operative.

It had sales last year exceeding $10 million with assets of $50 million. Foxboro Co-op has been a corporate member-shareholder of UCO since Foxboro was first organized many years ago.

The Foxboro Board want to see co-operative services to farmers maintained and broadened to serve as many people as possible in the future. They want to see the services remain in the hands of co-operative members, and so in looking to ways and means to do these things, they turned to UCO. It has been a supplier to Foxboro Co-op of many of the goods and services used by members and patrons in this area. It is owned by 35,000 members in Ontario, including 65 other co-operatives similar to Foxboro.

An immediate advantage for Foxboro members was demonstrated to them at the meeting when Don Huff, UCO District Manager, told them of the UCO member special program that was held on October 29 and 30.

The merger means the present Board of Directors will relinquish their posts in favor of a council of elected people. For the next year, however, members agreed that the Board should serve as the interim council.

Members of the Foxboro Co-operative will receive shares in UCO in return for their equity in Foxboro Co-op. The transfer of this members' ownership will take place some time in the next few months, but the merger is effective immediately. All of the staff, and the manager Alvin Donaldson, will continue as UCO staff.

Rylstone woman bags two deer

Mrs. Lewis (Marion) Fennell showed herself to be very adept at handling a gun this past week, while hunting with her sister and other friends near Haliburton.

On Thursday morning, Mrs. Fennell sighted a fawn which she brought down with two shots. Saturday, about 1 o'clock, she shot an 8-point buck in the jaw, and finished it off with a shot between the eyes.

The Fennells are a family of nine. Lewis and their two sons, Gary and Pat, were hunting moose recently, when Gordon Melkie John shot a moose with a 4 foot, 4 inch antler spread. Mr. Fennell leaves today for the deer hunt. No doubt he will try to better his wife's score.

News-Argus Notebook

TIE GAME - A goal scored by Jack DeBruyn enabled the Stirling Juvenile hockey team to tie the Trenton B Juveniles in an exhibition game Sunday night in Wellington. The game ended in a 2-2 deadlock. The other Stirling marksmen was Ron Andrews. For Stirling, it was their first game of the new season. The regular season will open next Monday night in Havelock. Ice-making at the Stirling arena is currently taking place. If the cold weather remains, it should be ready for play soon.

LAYMAN'S SUNDAY at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling was conducted by five members of the congregation - Earl Fox gave the sermon; Maurice Faulkner led the responsive reading; Ken Tompkins read the scripture lesson; Eugene Burrell told the children's story and Lynn Jones conducted the balance of the service.

CHRISTMAS MAIL - The Postmaster-General has announced dates for sending Christmas parcels and cards in order they reach destinations on time. Distant Points in Canada and USA, December 8; the rest of Canada, December 13; local delivery December 17. Householders receive a descriptive folder this week detailing dates for specific countries overseas.

FRANKFORD VISIT - Melvyn Frost of Ottawa, Grand Master of the Royal Black Knights of Eastern Ontario, will pay an official visit to RBF 631, Frankford on November 17.

HUNTING RESULTS - A number of local deer hunters who spent last week in the bush have returned to their jobs this week, although many are still enjoying the hunt, along with a new crop of hunters who entered the bush over the weekend. One party, consisting of Donald R. Williams, David Scott, Robert Anderson, Ross Anderson, John Eaton, Daryl Anderson, Brian Anderson and Alton and Earl Ferguson bagged four deer last week in an area north of Lingham Lake, near Cooper.

GIRLS HOCKEY - The Stirling Ken Sine Fus's girls hockey team apparently lost none of its finesse over the long summer layoff. In their first encounter of the new season, Saturday night, November 5, against Picton-Wellington Combinis, the Stirling team skated away with a 5-1 victory. Susan Wright potted four of the Stirling goals with Shelley Farrell finding the mark on the fifth one. Stirling will begin its regular schedule of games Sunday night in Wellington against the same Picton-Wellington crew.

LIGHTS ARE ON - Monday was a busy day for several local businesses, as they went up and erected festive lighting fixtures throughout the downtown district. Stirling took on a pre-Christmas appearance when the lights came on at sundown.

VETERANS REMEMBER

Veterans of the First World War, and earlier, are a diminishing breed. Stirling still has a few, however. Recalling old times at a Reception and Tea held Sunday in honour of local Silver Cross mothers were (from left) Charles Barnard, veteran of the Boer War, World War One and World War

Two: Arthur Hagerman, George Heasman and Fred Heasman, all World War One veterans.

MARSH WORLD by ANGUS SHORTT Ducks Unlimited

SHOVELLER

Shoveller or spoonbill is a small, fresh-water duck with a unique bill. This is large and broadly spatulate toward the tip, it is equipped with a fringe of comb-like lamellae along the edges of both upper and lower mandibles. These form an efficient strainer. Beaksfuls of aquatic plant and animal life are "shovelled" from the water, strained by closing the bill and contents eaten.

CARE's fall drive is now under way

Schooling and health help will receive major emphasis in the allocation of $200,000.00 of designated funds that Canadians have given to CARE in the past six months. It was decided this week at a meeting of the Executive Committee of CARE of Canada.

Many CARE donors designate a particular country and project but every six months the Committee meets to decide how the undesignated funds will be spent. This time they allocated $100,000.00 to self-help projects in Kenya and Lesotho to provide equipment for community health centers, materials for schools, cattle dips in farm areas, pure water supplies for villages, bridges and roads to markets. The emphasis will be on education and health because in those countries the infant mortality rate runs as high as 150 deaths per thousand live births, and illiteracy as high as 75% of the population.

The rest of the $200,000.00 was channelled to the support of CARE's Food Crusade programs in Haiti and Sierra Leone. The Food Crusade provides one nutritious meal a day for school children and/or food for work, for refugees, disaster victims and others.

The cattle dip program is an example of CARE's self-help projects. Tick-infested cattle are dipped in tanks containing a solution effective against parasites. CARE supplies materials and instructions. The recipients provide land and labor, and many village farmers donate a cow for auction to put added money into the pot.

By such partnership efforts plus purchasing direct from suppliers, obtaining donations of surplus goods, foodstuffs and transportation... CARE is able to provide $9.00 aid for every $100 donated.

CARE's fall campaign emphasizing the World of CARE is now underway. It aims to raise $500,000.00 to continue the programs and projects already being carried out in 32 countries overseas. On the spot CARE personnel are in charge of the actual projects and CARE is officially recognized by both the American and Canadian Governments as a regular charitable organization. Donations may be forwarded to CARE-Canada, 63 Sparks, OTTAWA K1P 5A6 and a receipt for income tax deduction will be provided.

The voluntary members of CARE's Executive Committee are: K. B. Andras, President of Andras, Hatch and Hetherington; A. C. Ashforth, former President of the Toronto-Dominion

Bank; H. E. Langford, Q.C., former President of Charder & Trust and former Chairman of the Ontario Securities Commission; A. Ross Poynett, President of Imperial Life; J. L. Steward, Q.C., senior partner of Fraser and Beatty.

SEABORN A. PREST

The funeral of Seaborn A. Prest R.R. 4, Stirling, was held Saturday, Oct. 30, at the Hodge Funeral Home in Stirling with Rev. Roy Taylor officiating.

Bearers were Bruce and Forde Staples, William McMullen, Murray Kirkey, Maurice Clang and Elmer Wilson.

Board meeting locally awards, use of buildings, and such like.

At this point, one board member asked "Don't we ever get any critical mail?" Director of Education Eric Rumacres pointed out that in his experience, this board was unique because he could not recall any such mail operation.

Chairman D. R. Williams, of Stirling, read one letter from a square dance group that had used schools in Belleville, Peterborough and Kingston, and highly praised the custodial staff's co-operation.

In the time he had been on the job, he noted there were occasionally letters which were handed to specific principals for action, but as far as matters requiring board attention, they appeared to be nonexistent, as least from the mail.

One Trenton resident complained to the board that in the morning, his daughters could ride to high school, while in the afternoon, one rode home and one walked.

It was pointed out this has been discussed with Rathburn Bus Lines and the shift in use at Trenton High School is the main cause. Once the Bayside School is opened, this will be alleviated.

One member also commented that on inclement days, it is hard to know how many will ride compared with those who walk, especially if it is difficult to know how many buses are needed. The transportation committee was directed to look into the matter.

Welcome to the community of Stirling was extended by Councilor Edward Klompmaker, on behalf of Reeve Robert Anderson; also by Reeve Jack Bush of Sidney Township and Principal George Patton, who outlined the history of the local schools.

Total enrollment here is 528 at the senior school, 231 at the junior and 95 at Marsh Hill.

The board agreed to set up transportation for pupils at the School for the Deaf in Belleville, so the children can be home every second weekend instead of the present three times a year. This will cost the board about $172 for 20 round trips, being organized by the school bus service.

J. C. Conk Construction was awarded a tender for renovations to the Trenton High School Auditorium in the amount of $26,144. The budgeted amount was $26,000. Only one other tender was received, from Miron-Wiggers, which was $32,385.

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT

SUPPLEMENTS versus NO SUPPLEMENTS

Some beef feeders do not feed any supplements to their cattle, often because they don't see the economic value compared to cost.

Sometimes when the beef producer feeds free choice mineral or without grain, he sees his cattle doing better than if they had none of these nutrients. The cattle should show some results, because of the increased protein, but from our experience the results aren't as good or as economical as when a supplement is fed.

Evidence of the value of supplement comes from a test conducted in 1970 by the Middlesex Beef Improvement Association. This organization had 2 groups of 16 cattle, and 2 groups of 15 cattle, all housed in one barn but separate pens. All cattle were given similar mineral free choice and were fed over a 5 month period, as follows:

Group	A	B	C	D
2 lbs. oats	206	236	278
1.4 lb.	1.6 lb.	1.9 lb.
$23.07	$25.72	$30.58
11.3¢	10.9¢	11.0¢
$16.47	$24.92	$32.31

Results were

Madoc man named to OMMB

Madoc area farmer Allen Ket- cheson will continue as this area's representative on the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, voters in the three-county area decided Tuesday.

With over 1,450 eligible voters, representing both fluid and industrial shippers in the three counties, the turnout was comparatively light, with only 615 ballots cast.

Mr. Ketcheson defeated his nearest opponent, local Town- ship farmer Harry Evans by a majority of 182 votes, polling 396 votes to Mr. Evans' 177. The third candidate was Mrs. Helen Lang of Shannonville, who polled 42 votes.

The voting turnout was some- what higher in Prince Edward County than the three-county average, with 211 voting of an eligible 428.

Trent lectures are planned

Former federal finance minis- ter Walter Gordon and Paul Quebecois deputy leader Jacques Parizeau have accepted invitations to participate in the 1971 Champlain Lectures at Trent University on November 19 and 20.

They will join eight other well-known Canadians in an open debate on the question "Is There an English Canada Worth Preserving?" The Champlain lectures are held annually as part of Trent's fall convocation.

Mr. Parizeau will examine the theme of the lectures from the French-Canadian viewpoint in an address at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, November 19, in the great hall of Champlain College. Small-group sessions will follow his address.

The debate will continue through Saturday, with Mr. Gordon, M.H. Watkins, leader of the NDP's Waffle group; Ian Adams, author of "The Poverty Wall"; Professor G. Horowitz of the department of political economy, University of Toronto; David Mac- Donald, MP for Egmont, PEI;

Rylstone WI

Rylstone Women's Institute held their November meeting in the WI hall on Wednesday afternoon with an attendance of 18 ladies. Mrs. Jack Watson, president, was in charge and opened with the Institute Ode and the roll call answered by "A vegetable or fruit containing Vitamin C."

The Christmas meeting was discussed and ladies from Zion, and Stanwood Churches and Gospel Chapel will be invited. The members were reminded to bring home-made candy, fancy cookies or bazaar items for the bazaar table. There will also be a gift exchange, with gifts valued at $75.

A discussion was held concerning the possibility of holding card parties in the WI hall to raise funds. It was decided to try having one party each month. Mrs. Carl Reid and Mrs. Ellis Jones were chosen as a committee for the December party. There will be further notice of the parties in a local paper.

Mrs. Ernest Irwin, delegate to the area convention in Belleville gave her report and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Paul McKeown who had taken the leaders course on "The Knack of Sewing with Knits." She distributed booklets with the same title as the previously mentioned course and explained the modern knit materials which have become so popular and the proper way to choose materials and sizes and how to find your proper size.

Duck hunting permitted at Presquile

Ducks, geese, rails, coots, gallinules, woodcock and Wilson's snipe, may be hunted every Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday at Presquile and Darlington Provincial Parks in Lindsay Forest District to December 15th.

Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset on the days noted above. Hunting is permitted only from blinds supplied by the department of lands and forests. Each blind may be occupied by one or two hunters who must purchase a special Park Waterfowl Permit which costs $4.00 per day. Each blind requires only one permit whether occupied by one or two hunters. These permits will be issued at a cost of one, first served basis at the park offices starting at 5:00 a.m. on shooting days. Hunters obtaining these permits will be required to surrender their provincial small game hunting licence. It will be returned by the park officer when leaving the park.

Hunters are reminded that in addition to the provincial small game hunting licence a Canadian Migratory Game Bird Hunting Permit, available from any post office for a fee of $2.00, is required to hunt ducks, geese and other migratory birds. Hunters must be in possession of both licences before being issued a special Park Waterfowl Permit.

Unless otherwise stated, the game bag limits and regulations made under the Migratory Birds Convention Act and Regulations apply in both parks as in other parts of Central Zone of the Province.

Studded tire ban remains

TORONTO .. The Highway Traffic Act does not provide for any exception to the ban on the use of studded tires in Ontario this winter, Deputy Minister of Transport and Minister of Communications A.T.C. McNab said in a statement issued today.

"The regulation prohibiting their further use, which was passed last year, makes it an offence for any vehicle to be equipped with studded tires on Ontario highways, roads and streets," he said.

Drivers using studs may be fined to $100.

Mr. McNab said the province took the lead in banning studs after research carried out in Ontario on their effectiveness and effects on highway damage was more advanced than other jurisdictions.

"That research, and additional research conducted by the Canada Safety Council -- an independent organization -- during the past two winters supported earlier findings that studs offered only marginal aid in winter driving where ice road conditions existed," he said.

The tremendous amount of research that has gone into the matter leads safety experts to believe that in a great many instances studded tires were operating under a false sense of security."

Regular snow tires and the use of steel tire chains, where necessary, are not affected by the ban.

The increasing use of studs was found to be wearing off the surface protective texture of paved roads prematurely, obliterating the white driving lane guide lines, said Mr. McNab.

"The combination of these results was causing a general hazardous driving condition that could affect all motorists," he added.

He pointed out that the State of Minnesota also has banned the use of studs this winter

Bell seeks rate hike

The local rate for individual residence service in Stirling could go up 35 cents under the new schedule being proposed by Bell Canada.

Bell's cost's, like everyone else's, have gone up, and the company says that expenses have outstripped revenues under its present rate schedule, explained Robert Carleton, Bell's Area

Dixton 4.30 4.70
Frankford 4.55 5.00

Montreal 6.05 6.65

Present and proposed basic rates for regional exchanges are listed below.

Members of the human race have the means to communicate with one another better that at any time in history. Instant communication is not only a possibility but is taking place through communication satellites and the wonders of electronics. Distant events are seen and heard in our living rooms as a matter of course.

WANNAMAKER - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Leonard William Wannamaker who passed away on November 11, 1969. What would we give if we could say "Hello Dad," the same old way. To hear your voice and see your smile. And sit and talk with you awhile. We were not there to say goodbye. Perhaps it was just as well. We never could have said goodbye. To a dad we loved so well. We mourn for you in silence. No eyes can see us weep. But many a silent tear is shed. While others are asleep. Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Sandra, and granddaughter, Kelly. 44-1

As the quantity of information communicated increases, there appears to be less and less concern with the quality of what is seen and heard. There is a tremendous concern about pollution of our environment but seemingly a concern about the pollution of man's mind by what is daily communicated to them. We are so aware of the dangers of any kind of censorship that we assume that anything that can be communicated has a right to be published, seen and heard.

When little consideration is given to the content of what is communicated the result is bound to be confusion and uncertainty. To suggest that it is important to distinguish between falsehood and truth and between right and wrong is to brand as a reactionary and as an adherent of authoritarianism. Today we are being told to listen to a great variety of voices. Sometime, "Listen to the world." We are told to listen to the poor, to the blind, to the young, to Mao and immature others. The opinions expressed are not only varied but contradictory. It is widely assumed that there is no such thing as truth and no timeless and eternal values and ideals.

At a time when all authority is questioned and when men scornfully ask "What is Truth?" it is noteworthy that the Bible is enjoying its widest readership in history. The Today's English Version New Testament, published five years ago by the Bible Society, has had a world distribution of 30 million copies and has been published in many languages ever since. This book is not being bought as a present or simply to be attractive on the shelf, but to be read. All over the world, hundreds of Bible Study groups which have no formal connection with any church have sprung up. Young people in their search for truth and a better way of life are reading the Bible. The Scriptures are now in 1431 languages and the Bible Societies last year distributed

Official plan under way Hastings planning area

An Official Plan is being prepared for the County of Hastings Planning Area. The planning area consists of all municipalities that form a part of the County of Hastings for municipal purposes, with the exception of the Villages of Frankford and Stirling and the Township of Sidney and Thurlow. The purpose of the Official Plan is to reflect the long-range desires of the people of the County and to incorporate these desires into land uses that will best serve the people without destroying the resource base of the area. The Official Plan is designed to help guide development in the County and to produce the greatest benefit to the largest number of people possible.

The Official Plan sets out the desired policy for development. A second document called a Restricted Area (Zoning) By-law will then be prepared for each municipality in order to implement the land use policies of the Official Plan. A Restricted Area By-law is designed to protect present development and to ensure that incompatible uses do not occur in close proximity to or near one another. For example, with no restrictions on land uses, it is possible for a "nuisance" industry such as a junk yard or gravel pit to be located adjacent to residential development. A zoning by-law will not eliminate junk yards or gravel pits, it will merely ensure that in the future, these different uses will not be located together to the detriment of all. A zoning by-law is therefore a form of protection for the homeowner against having an undesirable use next to his home, and protection for the gravel pit operator, for example, who can carry on his business without complaint.

In the County of Hastings Planning Area, the consulting firm of Totem Sims Hubicki have been engaged to prepare the Official Plan and Restricted Area By-laws. At the present time, they are involved in gathering information and studying the County. One of the most important tools for "knowing" the area is the land use survey. The land use survey has been in progress since August of this year and will be continuing until at least the end of November.

Later on in the planning program, the people of Hastings County will be asked to get involved in the planning of their area. Their ideas will guide the formation of the Official Plan policies in order to ensure that the Hastings Planning Area will grow to the best advantage of its citizens.

Loyalist appointment

Herbert Young, president of Loyalist College, has announced the appointment of Laurie Cameron, B.A., to the position of Field Representative. News-Argus Notebook

GIRLS WIN - The Stirling Ken Sine Fistic Hockey Team blanked Wellington-Picton combines 5-0 in a game at Picton Sunday. Joan Ballay scored three goals for the winners, with sister Jane getting one and Susan Wright adding the other. The girls play their first home game here Saturday at 6:30 against Belleville.

AN HISTORIC NOTE - A piece of Stirling history faded into oblivion on Monday as the News-Argus scrapped its old flat-bed, hand fed newspaper press. The old press turned out its last newspaper in August, 1970, when the News-Argus converted to the offset for poster work, but mainly served as a tool for the printing department. John McRae, contractor, Harry Cooke, had the task of dismantling the heavy piece of machinery, and taking it off the building piece by piece. Even the old handle used to roll the press by hand, before electricity came to Stirling, ended in the scrap heap. There just isn't any demand these days for such a contraption! The News-Argus has purchased a much more compact vertical Miehle press which will perform the same printing function as did the old press.

Remembrance Day service well attended

The following address was delivered by Rev. Roy A. Taylor, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Stirling during the annual Remembrance Day service at the local cenotaph Thursday morning:

In the 42nd chapter of Isaiah, we find these words, "I have put my Spirit upon him."

There is a standard by which all nations are tested, by which its native sons are given a task, and for which each man is endowed with certain abilities to perform them.

After our Lord had sent the disciples forth to proclaim His gospel, Jesus asked them "When I sent you... lacked you any thing?" to which their instant reply was, "Nothing." God never assigns a duty without also furnishing the proper equipment to complete the task.

Many peoples long for the kind of spirit that will make them equal to any task set before them. However, when that which must be done is clearly seen, people rise to the occasion with every ounce of courage and power they possess. They become stirred up by the power of the spirit within them.

This was the spirit that dwelt in the hearts of all the men and women of Canada who offered themselves for the task that was so plainly placed before them, And when the going got rough, they proved that they "lacked nothing" to complete the job that had to be done. As it was with the disciples in ancient times, God had put His spirit upon them. They had the courage, the will, to do all that was required of them - and more!

In addition to this, there was no self-advertising, no loud boasting of their accomplishments, (and I believe there are more unsung heroes in Canada than any other country in the world), but rather, they were about their task with only one thing in mind - victory, at whatever the cost. No iron curtain can conceal the quality of a people's life, nor can blind the impression of other nations of the greatness and extent of their influence.

The spirit of our fighting forces asked no quarter, and gave none. This nation's genuine service to mankind was discharged with a persuasiveness of quiet effectiveness. They were conscious only of the realization of a true ideal, and a worthy activity that would restore human virtue which was lacking among the nations. To accomplish this task required endless endurance. The men and women who contracted to perform these duties showed that they had the courage; faint heartedness nor weariness discouraged their efforts. They knew they had been chosen people, endowed with a certain spirit, upon whom all eyes of the world were set, and only victory would satisfy them.

Masters of their own convictions and sense of duty to their country, to their community, to their immediate families, and to future generations, they fixed their sights on Christian standards of morality and justice, and collectively resolved to restore human dignity and honor to service to all mankind. They gave their lives. Can we do less? May we ever continue to follow their excellent example. And God grant His richest blessings to do so.

"Cheerful and healthy"

This cheerful-looking baby is Kenny, eight months old. He's Anglo-Saxon in descent and has blonde hair with blue eyes and fair skin.

Kenny is a healthy boy, always good-natured. He has a mild hearing loss and is soon to be fitted with a hearing aid. Even without it, he hears people talking to him and uses his own voice. Though nothing he says is recognizable yet, he chatters and gurgles and squeals in appealing baby language.

He is crawling, so he enjoys exploring, but is happy just to sit and play with his toys or his own hands or watch anything moving. He loves children and is interested in animals.

Kenny is easy to look after because of his happy disposition, because he amiably eats everything offered to him and because he sleeps right through the night.

This lovable baby needs loving parents who can help him with his slight hearing loss and whose academic expectations will not be too demanding. To inquire about adopting Kenny, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

by Margaret Brookfield

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice write Margaret Brookfield, Information Centre of the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm a widow who was married for 46 years. I never thought my life would be like this. I know what loneliness is now and believe it's the worst disease imaginable. I have a daughter, my only child, whom I educated to the best of my ability. She has a master's degree and is a guidance counselor. Although we live in the same town, I only go to her home when I'm invited. I work part-time and want nothing whatsoever from my daughter, only the milk of human kindness. I know I must be doing something wrong, because we're not very close. I cannot come up with the answer as to why I'm not a satisfactory mother. If you could tell me how to bridge this terrible gap?

C. R., Brattleboro, Vt.

Dear C. R.:

If it's any consolation, you're not alone. Many mature women have trouble getting back into the swing of things. Because of this, our Information Centre has developed a reading group for women interested in returning to work or business. You can send a copy by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope to the Information Centre on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019. Other readers can also receive a copy by doing the same.

Dear H. B.:

Perhaps you were counting too much on your daughter's help in dispelling your loneliness. You don't indicate if she has a family, of her own, but she does have a job which makes certain demands on her time and her energies. Therefore, you should not construe-as a form of unkindness-her inability to be fully involved with you. Why not try a fresh approach? First, develop some other friendships and activities so you're not as lonely. Second,

St. John's ACW annual report

After a summer recess, St. John's A.C.W. resumed their regular monthly meetings in September, 1970 and welcomed the new rector, Charles Staples and Mrs. Staples. Following his induction Service on Sunday, October 4, Mr. Staples provided refreshments.

On Oct. 4 the Junior Choir sang for the first time while wearing their new choir gowns made by members of the A.C.W.

Several members attended the Hastings Area Annual in Tweed.

The group assisted at the Hastings Manor Bazaar.

On Nov. 13 a most successful bake sale and coffee party was held. Tickets were sold on a quilt made and donated by Mrs. Russel.

Members took part in the fellowship meeting at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church as well as attending a Deansery meeting in Toronto.

In December calendars were sold and the nominating committee brought forth the following slate of officers for 1971: President - Mrs. Alice Carr; Vice-president - Mrs. Murray; Secretary - Mary Wall, treasurer; Margaret Green, Altar Guild secretary; Doris McGee, affiliate secretary; Eileen Barnard, Lotte Clarke, social convenors; Vera Cooke, social service; Marlene Morgan, family life department; Edith Edwards, living message secretary.

January brought a busy round of activities. In spite of adverse weather in February, a successful Demonstration Night and annual Pancake Tea were held. Two quilts were done. Work was started on the kitchen renovations by the Men's Club and at the same time the A.C.W. arranged to have new washrooms installed in the basement area.

In March, members participated in the World Day of Prayer at the Pentecostal Church.

In April, the C.A.R.M. were guests of St. Paul's U.C.W. in Frankford.

A cleaning bee was held following completion of the kitchen and washroom renovations. Six members attended the Diocesan Annual in Kingston and in May members participated in packing the Area bale as well as attending the visit of Bishop Clarke of Moosee, in Frankford.

In June arrangements were made to have the kneelers padded during the summer. The yearly total of meetings was 10 plus one executive meeting this fall.

The Family Life Department involves approximately 30 children. Birthday remembrances sent to each child. The A.C.W. provided refreshments following their service and party. A pot luck dinner and Family night party were held in December.

The Altar Guild continues their service in care for the Altar Linens, flowers each week except for memorial flowers, also cleaning the silver and brass each month.

Our social convenor and her committee arranged the catering for 13 dinners during the year. Much credit is due to this committee and all the women of the church who so willingly contribute food and time, as this is our main source for funds-raising.

The work of the Social Service Dept. is expanding. Four A.C.W. members assist each fourth Wednesday of each month at Hastings Manor Canteen, and two attend the Manor's Auxiliary meetings. Residents of Hastings Manor having birthdays in July received cards from St. John's A.C.W.

The A.C.W. provides bus lunches for the District Guider Training school held in our community. Our contributions to the Area bale was to the value of $145.00 plus $2.00 for expenses. Donations of used clothing were sent to St. Paul's Community cupboards.

The A.C.W. sends small gifts to children, 12 and under who are ill or in hospital. Visits are made regularly to the two local nursing homes.

Donations are made to the Ministry of Welfare Fund in memory of any deceased parishioner. Cards are sent to the sick, new babies, special anniversaries and sympathy cards.

One helper is supplied each Sunday to assist with the nursery class of the Sunday School. Secretary - Mrs. Alice Carr, Vice-president - Mrs. Murray, secretary - Mary Wall, treasurer; Margaret Green, Altar Guild secretary; Doris McGee, affiliate secretary; Eileen Barnard, Lotte Clarke, social convenors; Vera Cooke, social service; Marlene Morgan, family life department; Edith Edwards, living message secretary.

Some Suggestions For Next Election

With the Ontario election less than a month old, some happenings in the campaign should perhaps be mentioned, so that with a little forethought the anticipated 1972 federal election, and subsequent elections to that, events could be planned throughout the riding so the most voters would get the most exposure to the candidates at once.

Let's make one point first. Political rallies by specific parties are fine, and an integral part of the system, but they don't really give the new voter a chance to determine whether candidate 'A' is a better choice than 'B' or 'C'. This can only be settled when all are present and asked the same policy questions.

What is needed is a schedule of candidates' nights throughout the riding concerned. Granted, it would take a little co-operation on the part of the riding executive of the major parties, but with advance planning, this could be done. We feel that if perhaps three or four sites were chosen, say a week or so apart or less if desired, plans could be made any time for the most suitable hall, and a strong chairman appointed. All that would be needed, would be to settle on the exact dates, when the election was called. We feel these meetings should be slated for perhaps a week or two before the final campaigning is done, so voters would have a chance to assess whatever they learned at the session, and determine which they wished to support.

Going one step further, it seems logical too, that all major party organizations at least could now be nominating candidates for the next federal election. Why wait til the election is called? This only gives the chosen man less time to campaign.

We feel that when it is coming to the point where an election needs to be called within a specific time, then all parties would do themselves a favor by getting their vote-getting machinery well-oiled early, rather than waiting until the die has been cast and the people in power have an even greater edge than the date-setting privilege gives them.

There are many facets of elections that could be vastly improved, such as permanent polling places (not in peoples homes or schools); a permanent voters list, instead of running around each time a vote is called; allocating specific amounts for campaign spending; requiring candidates to reside in the riding in which they contest the election, just to name a few.

There is no substitute for our system of elections, but if the past ones are any example, there certainly are many ways that we could improve on what we have.

War is a part of our history

by Lynn Jones

While the memories of Remembrance Day are past, but still fresh in the mind, it might be appropriate to mention on one project the Royal Canadian Legion should put on its agenda... namely a concerted effort to have November 11 a national holiday or at least a half holiday, rather than the present hodge-podge system.

We can see no real reason why the present system of bank, school and government employees should enjoy the benefits of a paid holiday, and the balance of commerce and industry be expected to arrange their work schedule to allow those who wish to attend the service, or hold a silent period at 11 p.m., if this is not feasible.

No one questions the fact that this is an important day yet no government, past or present, has seen fit to make a general tribute. Most other countries have a national day to honor their war dead, and yet Canada has not. We certainly have made our contribution to war efforts, considering our size in world powers, and this is something that should be recognized by setting aside a day for this.

Having such a holiday would make things a lot simpler for business in general, a great incentive to suspend business operations for an hour to two hours, especially in the middle of the day. Were the service at the start or end of operations, it would be feasible, but the nature of the service is to have the two minute silence come at 11 p.m., so having the commemoration at any other time would hardly make sense.

There might be another facet of this service that would merit a little consideration as well, supposing there was a holiday policy set. That would be to arrange for services in large auditoriums as they were available. November 11, most years, is not the most pleasant day as far as weather is concerned. Whether more would attend the function were it held in a more suitable environment is not easily determined, but might at least be worth investigating.

In the same vein, there might be a little more public education on the matter of Remembrance Day. Today's school children are studying the two Great Wars, historical events, but beyond that, there are certainly men from the area who might be able to make some personal contribution to a period or two just before Remembrance Day, so the ceremonies would be more meaningful to the participants.

Survivors of the First World War are rapidly becoming fewer and fewer, which is not difficult to understand when you consider this war has been over for 53 years and any survivor must be 70 or more. There are many more who remember the events of World War Two, because of the books and historical movies made in connection with it. As well, of course, survivors are only men in their early fifties.

War is not a pleasant thing, and perhaps if a few of those who did encounter its effects first hand could have a small part in teaching this facet of our history to our present school children, it might mean a better understanding of Canada's past.

The eastern end of the town could be made our prettiest entrance into Stirling with the creek along the highway. But the creek needs to be cleared of its cattails, if these continue uncontrollably, there will eventually be a swamp along our highway. Consider it as a works program for unemployed,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
The Stirling News-Argus,
Dear Sir;

You have asked for comments for the editorial column of the News-Argus.

My comment is regarding the eastern end of Rawdon Creek

The (downtown) section of the creek was cleaned up in the summer but the eastern section was ignored or perhaps forgotten.

More and more we need to be told that life doesn't have to be that way. If we only remember and begin to apply the life principle, which St. Paul taught those early Christians at Corinth, "Our sufficiency is of God; who has made us worthy to be ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter, but of the spirit." When we begin to live life according to this principle and exercise the Christian ministry that Jesus laid upon us, we will live with a sense of hope in the future because we will believe that He is in the future, calling us toward Him.

An Interested Citizen

A Weekly Meditation

by Rev. Charles Staples
St. John's Anglican Church

In the second letter which Paul the apostle wrote to the Christians at Corinth, he made this statement, "such trust have we through him, looking forward; not that we are sufficient of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God." This claim of self-command is not written boastfully. Paul is not trying to sound smug. He is giving us a life principle. The quality of life is God given. The kind of persons we can become is more due to the generosity of God, than to our own accomplishments.

This important clue about life and about how we should live is easily forgotten or overlooked today. It is relatively easy for us to God outside, and to think that life is governed by what I decide and what I choose to do. Freedom of choice, of course, is ours. It is given to us in creation. But the consequences of our choices were also part of our creation.

If we prefer deceit and pre-judice to honesty and acceptance of others, then the quality of life will be obviously unpleasant, full of tension, and uncertainty. We will need to be on guard against others. It is difficult to believe that a rational person prefers the kind of living to the kind of life where there is goodwill, and an easy, relaxed understanding and acceptance among people.

But confidence about the future, and a sense of trust in life all will be well, is difficult to find. Increasingly families are experiencing more and more ups. The ever changing pattern of all areas of life today makes it impossible to develop a strong certainty about anything.

More and more we need to be told that life doesn't have to be that way. If we only remember and begin to apply the life principle, which St. Paul taught those early Christians at Corinth, "Our sufficiency is of God; who has made us worthy to be ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter, but of the spirit." When we begin to live life according to this principle and exercise the Christian ministry that Jesus laid upon us, we will live with a sense of hope in the future because we will believe that He is in the future, calling us toward Him.

Rumours drifting out from the various hunting camps in northern Hastings County all report deer as being quite plentiful and quotas being rapidly filled. At Salmon Lake, the hunting rounds of the Rock Lake Hunt Club, Gordon Valley, employee of the local Hydro Commission, is "tops" with two large bucks, weighing close to 200 lbs. each, to his credit.

Messrs. John Villetorte, Walter and Jimmy Wright and G. B. Bedford returned home Saturday from hunting in the Grindstone Lake area with their full quota, while Earl and Bob Lueray and H. Armstrong and Cecil Baker, who hunted in the Bannockburn area, lacked one of a full tally. H. C. Bird, who was a member of a party in the Apsey district, also got his deer.

Several of the local hunters are still enjoying the hunt and reports are that they are meeting with good success. The season in Hastings County closes next Tuesday.

Canada works

when we work together.

The Federal Government is putting 498 million dollars to work, through a series of specific programs, to help create jobs for Canadians. This message is designed to give you program details.

WORKING TOGETHER WITH THE INDIVIDUAL

We're encouraging you to act on your own initiative or through local government, local organizations and service groups to come up with ideas for our Local Initiatives Program. For example, you may wish to develop a day care centre in your town or any number of services that will make your community a better place.

There's also a Training-on-the-Job Program that will work through business and industry to expand opportunities for those who are unemployed or have little work experience.

If you have some basic experience, we've extended the Canada Manpower Training Program to help provide you with additional learning.

WORKING TOGETHER WITH BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

There's a program of tax incentives or direct payments to employers to encourage them to add trainees to their staffs through the Training-on-the-Job Program. This will help the trainee get work experience that he can use in many jobs.

WORKING TOGETHER WITH THE MUNICIPALITIES

The foundation of all municipal activity is the previously mentioned Local Initiatives Program. This will help you support and spur community projects that will give jobs to people in your community who find themselves unemployed.

WORKING TOGETHER WITH THE PROVINCES

Obviously, the municipal Local Initiatives Program will tie in closely with the Provinces

So will our Special Development Loans Program that will finance new capital works projects. We'll be speeding up mortgage approvals through the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to get homes, student housing and sewage treatment projects under way.

We also will be making loans to exhibition commissions, boards and associations to get you working on multi-purpose fair and trade buildings.

WORKING TOGETHER WITH FEDERAL WORKS

On our level, we'll be working to give you more job opportunities on maintenance and improvement activities on Federal buildings, transportation facilities, forest and park projects; and many others.

WHERE IT ALL WORKS TOGETHER

The job starts at your Canada Manpower Centre. For advice and assistance on any of the programs that you feel apply to you or your community, contact your local Canada Manpower Centre. They'll be happy to help you with all the information they have.

When Canadians get involved together, Canada works.

LIVESTOCK AND DUCKS

On the short-grass country of southern Alberta some of the best duck-producing areas in Canada are found. Given water, these areas are prime nesting habitat for pintail, mallard, widgeon and teal. The Eastern Irrigation District established a canal irrigation system in the area for agriculture. Through co-operation of the E.I.D. Ducks Unlimited draws on surplus water from the canals to supply about 100 projects in the area. These in turn are of direct benefit to more than one million head of cattle.

The best man was Leslie Pyear while Grant Hagerman, the bride-groom's brother and Grant Reid the bride's uncle were the ushers. Mark Hagerman, the bride-groom's nephew, was ring bearer.

The reception was held at the Madrid Room Sun Valley Motel Inn, Belleville. Greeting guests

A cathedral length veil of pure silk trimming was bordered by a headband of wired Guipure lace oak leaves trimmed with seed pearls. The maid of honor, Miss Holly Goodison, wore a floor length gown of pure silk with a silk velvet bodice. The bodice and sleeves were of royal blue velvet and the full skirt was of hand painted pure silk with flowers of royal blue and burgundy on a champagne background. Dollars and Good Sense

by William J. Martin
Most of us are credit card users today. What is thought of as a tool of the wealthy is now available to almost anyone; from grocery cards to department store charge plates to the new bank credit cards, our wallets are fatter now than when we used cash.

With most of these cards, many people live in dire fear of what would happen if their cards are lost or stolen. The bills that could accumulate would be staggering.

In the U.S., credit card holders in the know aren't worried any more. A law passed by Congress earlier this year limits liability to $50. But, it probably won't cost that much; in fact, it probably won't cost anything if you notify customers.

Some of the firms feel that if you aren't aware of the provisions, you may be much more prompt in notifying them and they are not planning to comply with this provision at all. Others are just now beginning to make their plans to notify customers.

The same law says that unsecured cards that have never been signed or used are exempt from liability of the card customer. Cards that don't provide some means of identification also are exempt from any liability.

So, rest easier tonight knowing that if your credit card should be lost or stolen, at least you probably won't have to pay for the fraudulent charges that might be made.

Scholarship winner addresses FOA banquet

One of the most successful annual banquets held to date by the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture took place Saturday night, Nov. 20 at the Huntington Township Hall, Innisfil, when a capacity crowd enjoyed an evening dinner with all the trimmings served by the members of the Innisfil Women's Institute.

President, Donald Sills, welcomed the guests and proposed the toast to the Queen. Grace was said by George Carlisle, a past president of the federation. Mrs. Douglas Sills was present for the evening.

Head table and special guests were introduced by Alex McCurdy, first vice-president.

Entertainment was supplied by the Couch Musical Group composed of Harvey and Ken Couch and Don Campbell.

Some excellent speakers were Ward, Phil Flager, 50 years of radio and broadcasting; Clarence Bird, assessment and taxation; Les Armstrong, cost of farm inputs;

Stewart Cooke, income tax and farm accounts.

Resolutions were sent to O.F.A. for presentation to the government, on such matters as snowmobiles, interest rates on government loans and loss of milk subsidy quota, to name a few.

Thanks were extended to the ladies by Glenn Bush and replied to by Mrs. Dan Cooke.

Wilfred Foulden introduced the guest speaker, Grant Ketcheson, Hastings County Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ketcheson. Madoc Mr. Ketcheson gave his audience a wonderful description verbally and with the use of colored slides of his trip and the privileges of scholarship offered.

Finch - Stewart

Grace Chapel, Stirling, was the setting for the October 9th wedding when Maureen Bernice Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Stewart, R. R. 2, Campbellford, became the bride of Morey Ralph Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Finch, R. R. 4, Marmora.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Garry Robinson, son of Bancroft. Wedding music was provided by Miss Carolyn Merrick. Miss Vickie Hay, soloist, sang the "Wedding Prayer", before the ceremony and "Bless These Two," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau-de-soie, with an overlay of velvet flocked nylon.

Her empire-style dress, featuring jewel neckcockle and sheer lantern sleeves, a band of peau-de-soie detailed the sleeves and the empire waistline and caught a detachable chapel train in the back, also of peau-de-soie.

The bride's headpiece, which gave a crown effect was highlighted with crystal sequins. It held in place a long nylon veil with a short layer which featured a scalloped edge.

She carried a cascade of rosy red carnations interwoven with green trailing ivy.

The maid of honor, Mrs. Gary Torrance, sister of the bride, was attired in a long, pale, semi-transparent gown of caftan rose polyester crepe. The dress had a shallow scoop neckline, finished with a flounce and the A-line skirt featured deep ruffles. The short puffy sleeves were gathered onto a wide band. A narrow rose velvet ribbon detailed the empire-waistline and formed a bow at the back.

The flower girl, a cluster of caudion rose chiffon flowers, Tammy and Tracy Finch, pieces of the groom, were long-dresses, styled in the same manner as the bridesmaids, but in the white velvet-flocked nylon, to correspond with the bride. A rose velvet ribbon accented the empire-waistline and formed a bow at the back also.

Both wore a cluster of tiny chiffon rosesbuds in their hair. They carried small nosegays similar to the bridesmaids.

The bridegroom was attended by Gary Torrance, brother-in-law, Ushers were Lyle and Ross Finch, brothers of the groom and Bill Barnum, cousin of the bride. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Riviera Inn, Campbellford.

At the wedding, the bride was honored at miscellaneous showers given by Mrs. Gerald Barnum and Betty, Miss Lynn and Sue Spencer at Mrs. Robert Spencers and Miss Lois Reid and Karen Andres at Mrs. Hubert Andrews.

MARSH MARAUDER

The striped skunk This wide ranging animal is found commonly in both prairie and woodland habitat. It is an omnivorous feeder and a predator to be reckoned with in waterfowl nesting areas. It roams the uplands where dry-land nesting ducks are found and will not hesitate to enter the wet borders of marshes and even swim out to islands in search of duck eggs.

Length about two feet, including tail and weight 6 to 10 pounds.

Safe Driving Week, Canada's longest-running national safety campaign, is being held from December 1-7. It is supported by all levels of government, business, industry and organization concerned with road safety.

Governor General, Roland Michener, Honorary Patron of the Canada Safety Council, endorses the campaign and contributes by signing certificates for cities with a population of 40,000 or more which have Safe Driving Weeks without a fatality.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau issued a message saying the campaign deserves the support of all Canadians.

"While modern technology can do much to improve vehicle engineering and highway design safety, the well-being of citizens who travel the nation's highways is most dependent on driver attitudes and skills.

I welcome this opportunity to urge Canadian motorists to exercise responsibility towards their families by operating their vehicles with care. This is essential to reduce the big and unnecessary drain of civilization's human and material wealth taken by traffic accidents," the Prime Minister said.

James C. Thackray, president of the Canada Safety Council, painted out the success of the campaign depends upon the participation of all Canadians. "While the campaign lasts only seven days, its goal is to alert drivers so as to prevent traffic accidents all year-round.

"During Safe Driving Week traffic deaths are reduced in comparison to the weeks preceding and following it. But too many people are still being killed and injured," he said. "Despite recent improvements, 100 Canadians still die and more than 3,000 are injured in 10,000 accidents."

Mr. Thackray, Executive Vice-President, Bell Canada, said drivers themselves are responsible for accidents in the great majority of cases. But they could prevent nine out of 10 of them by driving defensively. "By bearing his actions to the tested principles of recognizing the hazard, understanding the defense and acting in time."

The average death toll in traffic for Safe Driving Week is 61 since the inception of the campaign in 1956. This is well below the average for seven-day consecutive periods throughout the year. In 1970, the average weekly death toll during the rest of the year was 96. During Safe Driving Week there were 63 deaths.

The scope of the problem being brought to the attention of Canadians by the campaign is given by 10-year statistics from 1960 to 1970. In this decade, there were 4,050,909 reported traffic accidents in which 47,324 Canadians were killed and 1,482,312 reported injured.

Stirling youth receives award

TORONTO . An 18-year-old Stirling youth has been awarded $3,034 for shotgun injuries he sustained two years ago which cost him his lower left leg. The Ontario Law Enforcement Compensation Board has awarded the youth, Steven Hoyt, $7,500 in a lump sum for the pain and suffering and $534 for legal and medical expenses.

On Dec. 1, 1969 he was hunting rabbits on a farm with two friends when a shotgun carried by Michael Coughlin, then 15, discharged as both climbed a snow-covered hill.

The shot hit Hoyt in the left thigh and damaged the leg so severely that gangrene set in and the leg was amputated below the knee.

Although a charge of careless hunting under the Fish and Game Act was finally dismissed in July, the law board decided Coughlin could have been charged under the Criminal Code of Canada on the dangerous handling of arms and ammunition.

This allowed the two members of the board who heard the evidence, J. W. Scott and R. P. Gilligan, to grant compensation for a "crime."

They noted Hoyt was in Grade 10 and lost two years of school plus the suffering of the loss of the leg, skin grafts and pain from an artificial limb.

WMS marks anniversary

On Sunday evening, November 14, the 70th anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, West Huntington, was observed when a large number of church members and visitors gathered at the church.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. R. A. Taylor and Mrs. M. H. Thompson. Mrs. John Wallace and Mrs. K. Turnman were in charge of the guest book.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by the president, Mrs. Harold Thompson and all took part in singing several old songs accompanied by Mrs. Lindsay Sills.

The devotional service was prepared by Mrs. John Craig of Belleville, but she was unable to be present and Mrs. A. L. Sutherland took charge. Mrs. William Donnan sang the Anniversary Prayer, composed by Miss Louise Lewis.

Mr. Harry Emerson thanked the guest speaker and the Quintones and all who had taken part in the evening's program.

Mrs. James Wallace gave a history of the W.M.S. since it was organized in 1901. The offering was gathered by Mrs. D. Fargey, Mrs. J. Wallace, Mrs. K. Turnman and Mrs. L. Adams and dedicated by Mrs. A. L. Sutherland.

Hymn 388 - Sow the Seed Besides all Waters, was sung and the benediction closed the meeting.

Lunch was served in the basement. Miss Sara Wallace, the oldest living member of our W.M.S., and an honorary life member had the honor of cutting the cake.

Mrs. Barbara Haggerty conducted "In Memoriam" service for departed members and a plant was on the communion table in their memory. Those unable to attend the meeting were

November 19, 1971

The Editor
Dear Sir:

Substantial reductions in automobile insurance are available to graduates of high school driver education courses. But not all young people get the chance to take driver-ed at school. They, and their parents, will be glad to know that the Canadian Underwriters Association is encouraging the development of out-of-school courses which qualify for the same discounts.

CUA authorized the Ontario Safety League to certify courses that meet the high standard required - a total of 25 hours of classroom instruction from a school teacher with special qualifications in driver-ed, plus a minimum of 6 hours individual in-car instruction.

Such courses are already in operation in Brantford, Guelph, Hamilton, Mississauga, Ottawa, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Catharines, Toronto. It is hoped that courses in four other locations will start up shortly.

Participants of the driving schools offering these approved courses will be supplied on request by the Ontario Safety League, 409 King St. W., Toronto; phone 362-1516.

The cost of these special courses is rapidly recovered through lessened premiums. But the main value lies in the significant reduction in accident expectancy.

Yours truly,
Fred H. Ellis

On Wed. morning, Nov. 10, Mrs. Allyn (Marian) Warren of Ottawa had a very exciting experience while on a hunting trip with her husband. They had only gone a short distance in the bush when they decided to separate and very soon Mrs. Warren spotted a deer coming straight toward her.

In a telephone conversation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Reid, Mrs. Warren said, "I looked around to see if Allyn was in sight to shoot it, but I had to do it myself and with only one shot between the eyes." This was Mrs. Warren's first deer.

Downtown lighting is appreciated

We think the merchants of Stirling deserve commendation for sprucing up the downtown district for the holiday season. Your comments have been heard to comment on the fine lighting display along Front and Mill Sts., and we are certain the efforts also are appreciated by local residents. Individual store decorations add to the atmosphere at this season of the year.

It is gratifying to see that local businessmen are willing to do their best to make Stirling's shopping district attractive. While some other small communities have seen their business district diminish in the last few years, Stirling merchants continue to be aggressive, in the face of tough competition from larger municipalities.

They are, quite naturally, some consumer needs that Stirling does not fulfill. And so there will always be a certain amount of out of town shopping.

However, as long as local merchants are willing to put forth their best, there is every reason to be optimistic about the future. No substitute will ever be found for friendly and personal service.

Support your hometown merchants as you go about your Christmas shopping, and make Stirling a better place in which to live.

Movies have deteriorated

BY ROY LEWIS

The helpless damsel was carried off by the black hearted villain and then in the most impossible odds, rescued her. Afterward they both rode off into the sunset and lived happily ever after.

This theme was used by Hollywood producers for many years, I say was, because the motion picture industry has gone through a revolution and, unfortunately, the new heralded the slow deterioration of a 50 year old industry.

Motion pictures have affected most of our lives in one way or another. We may associate ourselves with the actors and the roles they are playing. Or we may watch movies for sheer enjoyment and entertainment. Whatever the reason, they are very much a part of our society. Even if you do not attend a theatre, movies are brought into your home by a modern day device called television.

In doing this, however, they lost the combination of excellent camera work, outstanding acting and genuine real-life plots that were characteristic in the older movies.

Television, in my opinion, is the direct cause of the deterioration in quality of films. Before television, movies were the prime entertainment medium for millions of people. For a small admission charge, and a dime for hot buttered popcorn, one could enter a world of make believe for two or three hours and forget one's own troubles and problems.

Television made movie watching far more convenient. For now, family could sit in the privacy of home rather than make a trip to the local theatre.

When producers saw that box office receipts were dwindling, they decided to introduce sensationalism to the screen to try and attract more people to the theatres.

In doing this, however, they lost the combination of excellent camera work, outstanding acting and genuine real-life plots that were characteristic in the older movies.

Television has observed a strict code of ethics and has presented only high quality films which do not have to rely on sensationalism to attract the viewer.

An excellent film was present on television a couple of weeks ago. The film, entitled "The Longest Day" and produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, showed the events prior to, and the attack by allied forces on the beaches of Normandy, June 6, 1944. For those who had never seen war, this film presented a graphic account, far more vivid than could be outlined by any author.

The last film I saw at a theatre and found enjoyable was David Lean's production of "Doctor Zhivago". This movie traces the life of a doctor who, through his own choosing, is swept up in the violence during the Bolshevik revolution in 1917 and the take-

George Pollard, local dairy instructor, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Thurlow Junior Farmer's Club, held at Captain Finkle, Wadsworth on Monday night.

A real estate deal of interest was completed this week when Edward Kent, of town, purchased the property of William Edwards, River Valley.

Driving from Peterborough over the weekend, Harold Knapman, Picton, saw a young deer run out of a ticket near Bonarlaw, 12 miles north of the village, and gracefully leap over an automobile driving ahead of his car. Fog was settling down at the time and Knapman was following the car ahead quite closely. Suddenly the deer emerged and, terrified by the sight of the cars, gave a frightened leap clearing the first car with inches to spare. It disappeared in the woods on the opposite side of the highway. Both cars stopped but there was no damage.

Attended by well over one hundred cheese factory presidents and patrons, the annual meeting of the Hastings County Cheese Producers' Association was held in the Community Hall, Stirling.

A new time table came into effect on the Central Ontario Railway on Monday last. The time going north at Ashton is 7:25 a.m.; and going south 4 p.m.

A new time table has been issued by the Grand Trunk, and came into effect on Sunday last. There is no change in the running time of trains on this division.

The deer hunting parties all returned Saturday or Monday, and they report a successful hunt, most of them getting the regulation number of deer. Our thanks are due to Dr. Meiklejohn for a fine piece of venison.

Mr. Robert Wilson, news reporter of the Sun, Belleville, gave us a pleasant call on Tuesday morning last.

There's a great new quick way to make beautiful clear gels with real fruit flavors, using any fruit juice, or fruit punch concentrate in the frozen state, except pineapple. An envelope of unflavored gelatin is the key to turning out these short cut, delightful gels that will be ready to eat in 30 to 45 minutes. The variety is yours to choose in flavors that please your family best.

Quick Concentrate Gels

Unflavored Gelatine juice or punch
1/2 cup cold water concentrate, kept frozen*
1/4 cup sugar 1/4 cup ice water

2. Stir in sugar.
3. Add frozen concentrate and stir until melted. Stir in ice water.
4. Pour into individual dishes or 2-cup mold or bowl. Chill until set.
Makes: 4 servings

TELEPHONE OFFICE AT STIRLING - 1928

Stirling Staff at work - 1928. Misses B. Belshaw and R. Eggleston and Mrs. A. Bailey, manager.

Telephones date back to 1890s

Gaslight, high buttoned shoes and a horse and rig were considered the latest innovations in modern living when residents of Stirling began talking to their neighbours over Alexander Graham Bell's young invention back in the early 1890's.

According to records in Bell Canada's historical files, the first company to equip homes and offices of Stirling with phones was the North American Telegraph Company, Incorporated in 1886 by the Bathurst interests of Beaconsfield. This company served a large number of exchanges in eastern Ontario from Pakenham to Peterborough.

The late Joseph H. Hoppes, who was for many years manager of the North American Telegraph Company at Kingston, recalled the pioneer telephone days in this part of the country. On Sunday evenings, operators in Belleville and Kingston would entertain their fellow workers in other communities on the long distance lines by playing the guitar and banjo and quite often would join in singing such rousing tunes as "Sweet Adeline" and "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie" until a subscriber would cut in to make a call. But as long distance traffic increased, these Sunday night serenades came to an end.

Weather conditions played a vital part in the success or failure of long distance calling when the phone was still young. Under ideal conditions, a local phone user could talk to Toronto or Montreal while at other times calls could not be placed beyond Belleville because of static interference.

These pioneer phone talkers were equipped with Blake telephones which consisted of three boxes mounted one above the other on a board. The generator for ringing central or other subscribers on the line was in the top box from which the receiver hung. The mouthpiece was in the centre box and the battery or the talking current in the lowest box. This set was gradually replaced by the long distance telephone which could effectively cover more distance.

On Feb. 1, 1910, the Bell Telephone Company took over the telephone exchanges of the North American Telegraph Company and began erecting additional long distance lines out of Stirling.

The first was erected to Bancroft in the same year and in 1911 another was constructed to Belleville. In 1913 lines erected to Madoc and Campbellford improved the facilities already provided by the telegraph company. Now it was possible to telephone to any town or city within the radius of a 1,000 miles. By 1920 it was possible to talk across the continent.

Stirling's phones were converted to dial operation in 1940 and dial equipment was installed into the new telephone building on Church Street. The town's 500th telephone was installed in 1941, the 1,000th in 1952.

New phone subscribers in Stirling are definitely into a new era with the introduction of Direct Distance Dialing. They will enable customers to dial their own station-to-station long distance calls to more than 90 million phones on this continent.

"He loves people"

Smiling his way into your heart is Donny, eight months old. He is a lovely baby, Anglo-Saxon in descent, a well-developed boy with blonde hair and almond-shaped blue eyes. His left eye is slightly smaller than the right, but this does not spoil his good looks, and, in any case, is gradually improving.

Donny is an energetic, inquisitive boy with a delightful personality. Everybody is his friend. He loves children and the rougher they are with him, the more he squeals and laughs with glee. He is a strong baby, who can already stand well. And he has a small vocabulary of understandable words.

Donny is an affectionate little fellow who loves to be cuddled. There is muscular dystrophy in his background, but extensive tests show he is a normal baby. This cherub needs warm, outgoing parents who will have lots of time to give him and who can be comfortable with his medical history. To inquire about adopting Donny, please write to Today's Child, Box BBB, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.
